Airplanes and helicopters can be used to help save lives. When a hospital is far away, a helicopter can transport a sick or injured person much faster than an ambulance.